PEOPLE FIRST

Let the journey begin!

Now that you've taken the first step towards improving your hearing, you're probably wondering what to expect next.

Well, you can expect a lot! Life will become very interesting – certainly during the first few weeks of use – as you begin to rediscover what you've been missing!

Tego makes listening easy

When you begin using hearing aids it can be an amazing, even overwhelming experience. This is because you may have forgotten what it was like to hear certain sounds, and it can take sometime to remember them again.

You'll hear all sorts of sounds that might have faded from memory - like the ticking of a clock or air bubbling through a radiator. Some of them will seem very new and, at times, even rather loud!

Tego takes most of the work out of listening, and in a way it will become your new personal assistant, ensuring that the sound is perfect wherever you go.

Daily life with a new partner!

Tego is so cleverly designed that all you'll have to do to hear considerably better is to put it on when you wake up in the morning and change the batteries when Tego tells you to.

Your “hearing conductor”

Tego contains an array of advanced sound processing technologies, all of which are intelligently controlled by a unique system known as DecisionMaker. It's like an orchestra conductor controlling the symphony of sounds you encounter everyday.

And you don't have to do a thing, because it's all done automatically!

Practice makes perfect

The initial adjustment period can be quite tiring because there are so many exciting sounds to digest. But there's no reason to become discouraged.

Training your brain is a bit like training a muscle that hasn't been used for a long time. If you start slowly, within just a few days you will notice remarkable improvements.

And within a few weeks you'll be wearing Tego comfortably all day long!

Helpful exercises:

- Practice talking with a friend somewhere indoors and quiet.
- Do the same in your garden or the local park.
- Continue to a not-so-busy restaurant, and “practice” some more over a nice lunch!

Personal counselling

We will check that your instruments are comfortably fitted and that their performance matches your personal hearing profile and the kind of lifestyle you lead.

When you return for a follow-up visit, we will discuss how you're adjusting to the instrument. We will review your impressions and your progress, and if Tego needs to be slightly adjusted, or you want the sound quality altered, we can make the changes very easily.

Benefits you can feel

With Tego, you will notice a difference – and so will your friends and family. You'll become more confident, more active and more energetic.

People first

We believe that it takes more than technology and audiology to create the best hearing instruments. That's why we put the individual needs and wishes of people with hearing loss first in our development of new hearing care solutions.
